THE CHRISTMAS TIME.

Although, perhaps, to the little folks the spirit of Christmas is most noticeably enjoyable, to all, young and old alike, there is something of joy in the Christmas season. Gift-giving and gift-receiving are but features of, not the substance of, the Christmas day, for in the spirit of the day is the real enjoyment.

We celebrate the occasion about the same each year. Merry Christmas is the same for us as it was for our fathers, and for our children's children it will still be the same joyous season of whole-some domestic pleasures, social recreation, charity to the poor and kindly manifestations of good-will all round.

Thinking the same old Christmas thoughts, using the same time-honored Christmas forms of speech, and, still more to the purpose, doing the same generous, hospitable and amiable things that have always made Christmas a feast of hearty, whole-souled happiness are fashions that, though they are stereotyped as the profession of the season, cannot be improved upon.

The best that we may hope to do is to make the old welcome to Christmas heartier and more numerous as the years roll on. And that, we are glad to believe is being done. The world is growing merrier all the time. The influences that make for peace and good-will, not only among nations, but between classes and in the daily life of our homes, are, we think, making steady progress the year round.

Prudent Day For Lee.

Former Consul-General Lands at Havana in Command of His Army Corps.

The United States transports Panama, with General Fitzgerald Lee and his staff on board, entered Havana last Wednesday morning.

It will be remembered that when General Lee, who was then consular at Havana, left the city last April, just before the war broke out, Spaniards shouted and whistled derisively at him. He said:

"Wait until I come back and you will wish me to stay."

His words were prophetic.

General Lee was informed at Havana, for the first time, of his appointment as Governor of the Province of Havana. He said he was gratified, but had only thought for a military command.

Mr. Bryan on Expansion.

In a recent interview Col. William J. Bryan expressed himself as follows:

"We should hold the Philippines and Puerto Rico in trust for the people of those islands just as we propose to hold Cuba in trust for the people of Cuba."

He said, "I am not now in a position to say what our policy will be."

"Wait until we have a new president."

His words were prophetic.

General Lee was informed at Havana, for the first time, of his appointment as Governor of the Province of Havana. He said he was gratified, but had only thought for a military command.

The General stated that he is simply in command of his soldiers, that his duty is to preserve life and property, and that he has no right to do so except justly to the United States and to the people of the other nationalities. He said he had nothing to do with the establishment of any sort of government, and that his duties were confined to the day-to-day administration of order.

General Lee's presence in Havana provoked numerous demonstrations, although he sedulously tried to avoid them.

THE PENSION APPROPRIATION.

The General Pension bill, which carries an appropriation of $145,233,880, was put through the House Thursday in less than twenty minutes—the shortest time on record for a bill of this description, and it is worthy of note that its passage gave rise to none of the paroxysm of indignation which such measures were wont to evoke in other years. The fact was evidence of the better spirit which prevails in the lower branch of the Federal legislature, and it was at the same time a recognition of the truth that the pension list in its entirety, whatever abuses may attend the system, has practically become a fixed charge upon the country, with no likelihood of diminution except as natural laws shall thin out the ranks of the pensioners.

The popular mind the railroad speed at which the bill was passed Thursday will savor of recklessness, but in fact, under the system of business which prevails in the House, all the work of scrutiny and computation is done in the committee room; the rest is mere formality.

Again, it is not the general pension appropriation, but the practice of passing private pension bills which most calls for depreciation and correction as a wrong against the country and as a source of political demoralization. Mr. West showed up this phase of the subject clearly on Wednesday last when he called attention to the fact that though Illinois had furnished 65,000 more soldiers than Indiana, the pension roll for Indiana exceeded that of Illinois by $1,500,000. He accounted for this fact on the ground that Indiana is a pivotal State politically.

That bill which was passed by the House Thursday will be more closely scrutinized in the Senate is altogether likely; for the Senate on general principle is a leisurely body, and some of its foremost members in both parties, including Mr. Gullinger, chairman of the Committee on Pensions, have recently protested against certain obvious abuses.

Adams Lays Off.

The Philadelphia Inquirer says that it is encouraging to note that the planting of apple trees has once more become the rule in many counties of Pennsylvania. People residing in Canada and the civilized countries of Europe have come to recognize the delightful quality of the apples grown here and are now turning their attention to this country of course desired requisitions for more fruit than was formerly grown.

This demand, however, is not limited to the work of the orchardists, including the depleted orchards of a generation ago. Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Bedford, Berks, Cambria, Clinton, Clinton, Franklin, Lancaster, Lebanon, Lancaster, Lawrence, Lycoming, McKean, Meigs, Schuylkill, Susquehanna, Westmoreland, Warren and York have also turned their attention to the same direction and are now turning out fruit with a unanimity that is pleasant to observe.

It has been shown that with a little care the flavor of nearly all varieties of apples can be enhanced, and while this is the old notion, in other words, that is large and fine. The old notion, in other words, that there is no profit in apple culture, and if we maintain these islands that is exactly what we shall be doing."

Would not a year's subscription to the Compiler be an acceptable Xmas gift to a friend?
